Primary Elections Held Across The United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Connecticut Republicans met to nominate candidates for governor and U.S. senator Tuesday while across the country Richard M. Nixon bucked a conservative challenge to his bid for the California governorship.

Early voting in the California primary election pointed to a turnout close to the 65 per cent predicted by state officials. There were an estimated four million eligible voters. Tabulators looked for a slow count because of extra-long ballots.

Primary elections also were held in Idaho, South Dakota, Montana and Mississippi.

Connecticut's Republican convention in Hartford featured a six-way contest for the right to carry the party's banner in the gubernatorial race this fall.

John Also, former insurance company president, and Edwin H. May Jr., former state Republican chairman, were regarded as the leading contenders, but a majority of the 660 delegates was needed to win the nomination. If a lesser polled 20 per cent he could command a primary.

Former Gov. John Lodge appeared to be the favorite in a contest for the Senate seat being vacated by Republican Sen. Prescott Bush, who has announced he is retiring.

Opposing Lodge for the nomination were Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr. and Miss Vivien Kellogg, the industrialist who has engaged in several tax battles with the federal government.

The Hartford convention opened Monday night with a keynote speech by Sen. John Sherman

Dilworth Addresses Democratic Women

TAMIMENT, Pa. — Pennsylvania's Constitution is in liability, Richardson Dilworth told the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women Tuesday night.

Dilworth, the party's gubernatorial nominee, spoke at the federation's 35th annual convention. Also addressing the women were Rep. Stephen McCann, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Genieve Blatt, candidate to succeed herself as secretary of Internal Affairs.

Dilworth said the Constitution of the Commonwealth is a real liability and a new one should be drawn up at a convention and voted upon by the residents of the state. To get a new one will not be easy, he added. He urged an educational drive over the entire state.

"The Constitution of 1874 reflects the thinking of its day," the former Philadelphia mayor said. Its rigidity has not been conducive to effective government—in fact it created a distrust of government," he told the women.

Debt Is Unrealistic

He said the $2 million ceiling on the Constitution imposed on the Commonwealth's debt limit is unrealistic. The ceiling, he noted,

Daily Record To Expand Family Fare

Recognizing the importance of the home, The Daily Record, beginning today is expanding the space allotted to Family Fare, adding articles of general interest to home-makers, to career girls, to older women seeking to make money at home, and to young people.

Highlighted will be stories on foods, fashions as well as family fun and frolic. Custom-tailored to fit the food department is Linda Peters Phiper of Stroudsburg, who has her own unique approach to a recipe.

Readers are invited to send suggestions, household hints, ideas for parties or ways to amuse the children to Family Fare editor, Bobby Westbrook.

Senate Takes Secret Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee, bucking the administration's desires, has secretly voted all the money the Air Force asked to develop its super-reconnaissance plane—the RS70—plus funds to head off a cutback in the reserves.

It was learned Tuesday from informed sources that the Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee had added over a quarter billion dollars to the $48-billion defense money bill.

Jouhaud Asks End Of Attacks

PARIS (AP)—The condemned No. 2 chief of the European Secret Army Organization pleaded from his death cell Tuesday night for an end to the murderous terrorism carried on in Algeria by extremists opposing Algerian independence.

In an ironic climactic move the pica—if successful—would end a war by directives from two isolated prison cells occupied by disgraced generals.

"(Algerian) independence is a fact practically achieved, a fact which revolts us, which tells the bell for our hopes, but which we must consider with realism.

"The blind attacks against the Moslems must cease."

The text of Jouhaud's appeal was announced by a spokesman for French Premier Georges Pompidou. The announcement said the appeal was given by Jouhaud to the director of Fresnes Prison for delivery to Salan.

There was no immediate word on whether Salan would endorse what his one-time deputy was asking. Nor was there any word from the Elysee Palace on President de Gaulle's attitude. The fate of Jouhaud was still in de Gaulle's hands.

Salan, under life sentence, is believed to be in another cell of the same prison at Fresnes.

Some saw in the timing and urgency of the appeal a bid by Jouhaud to obtain clemency from de Gaulle.

Unless the president acts, Jouhaud could be executed, probably by a firing squad, as early as Wednesday.

Squads of special riot police were deployed in this capital, especially around city and public buildings, to guard against any violent rightist reaction.

A mixed military-civilian court April 13 decreed death, convicting Jouhaud, 57, of directing the secret army and participating in the general's revolt in Algiers last year against de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

Most Republican state leaders backed Nixon, but Shell waged a hard-hitting campaign in behalf of what he called "the new breed of California Republicans."

An issue splitting the party was the militantly conservative John Birch Society. Nixon said the GOP ticket had no place for candidates who seek or accept the society's support. Shell said he "neither sought nor rejected John Birch Society support."

In California, Gov. Edmund G. Brown had no serious opposition in his bid for another term. Brown predicted he will be re-elected in November no matter who the Republicans put in the field against him.

A proposal to legalize gambling was an issue in Idaho's primary elections. Vernon K. Smith, Boise attorney seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, advocated legalizing casino-type gambling while his five opponents were against the idea.

Idaho Republicans were expected to give Gov. Robert Shryne a chance for a third term by turning down two other aspirants.

Sen. Frank Church had no opposition for Idaho's Democratic senatorial nomination. Seeking the Republican nomination were two conservatives, George V. Hansen and John T. Hawley.

The convention re-elected him

Body Of Allentown Girl Found In Trunk Of Car

WATERLOO, Md. (AP)—The semi-nude body of a pretty, 14-year-old girl shot in the head was found Tuesday in the trunk of a car just after it was wrecked on the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

The man driving the car—forced off the road after a chase by state police—was in the front seat, also shot in the head. He died in a hospital two hours later.

State police said the deaths of Joanne May Hillegas and Charles Alfred Reppert Jr., 29, both of Allentown, Pa., apparently were murder and suicide.

"Last Christmas, at the party, I fell in love with Joanne and couldn't help it," it said in part. She couldn't help me, either. I tried to forget her but couldn't. So I kept on loving her.

"Now she is lying beside me in the car. Her blood is staining the seam from the wound in her head. As soon as I can mail this letter, I will join her. Please believe me, I am sorry."

The note was sealed in a stamped envelope addressed to Willard and Pearl Boger in Allentown, the grandparents with whom she had lived since her mother was killed 14 years ago.

Police found a handwritten note in the car's glove compartment signed "Charlie," and addressed to Joanne's grandparents.

The note was sealed in a stamped envelope addressed to Willard and Pearl Boger in Allentown, the grandparents with whom she had lived since her mother was killed 14 years ago.

Police found Joanne's body in the trunk. She was clad only in a blouse and brassiere and was nude from the waist down.

State police said there was a second page of the note in the glove compartment, but they did not make it public.

"We have endeavored to keep attention focused on the bill which is the only issue involved in this controversy. This bill would be compulsory, illusory and inequitable; it would help those who don't need help and fail to assist those who do; it would interfere with the free choice of hospital and physician, open the door to government control of medicine in this country and unjustly tax the working people to provide health care for millions financially able to take care of themselves."

Why the AMA House of Delegates declared in 1953 it had previously registered disapproval of the principal involved in Social Security.

Kennedy's letter, dated Tuesday, was the latest development in the administration's continuing fight with the AMA's opposition to the health care program.

MASS RALLY

The President addressed a mass rally in New York's Madison Square Garden May 20 to advocate the plan and chided the AMA in the process. Dr. Edward R. Annis, an AMA spokesman, replied in a televised speech the next day, terming the administration plan "a cruel hoax and a delusion." The same week Kennedy told his news conference the "curse hoax" terminology had been used against Social Security in the 1930s.

"I did not mean to imply," his letter Tuesday said, "that the AMA who had originally applied to the Social Security system the term 'cruel hoax'—but I am certain you will recall this very phrase was used by the opponents of Social Security in the 1930s."

Arrange Voyage Home

PARIS (AP)—American and French officials arranged Tuesday a final voyage for the 121 Americans killed in Sunday's Air France jetliner disaster on Orly Field.

Major Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta, after long hours of effort to identify the bodies of the victims—many his childhood friends—met late in the day with Joseph Roos, director-general of Air France, to discuss the return of the bodies to Georgia.

A spokesman for Air France said the bodies probably would be shipped by plane this week to Atlanta where relatives and close friends may aid in the task of identifying each victim. Most of the dead were leaders in the city's cultural and art regime.

The mayor helped arrange for a joint Protestant-Catholic-Jewish memorial service for all the 121 victims Wednesday morning in the American (Episcopal) Cathedral of Paris. He and Edwin Stern, an Atlanta city attorney, planned to board an Air France jetliner similar to the one that crashed for the United States Wednesday afternoon.

Sees Survivor

During the day the mayor called on Francoise Authie, one of the two survivors of the tragedy. Miss Authie, a stewardess who escaped virtually unharmed but who is still suffering from a state of shock, told Allen something of the last moments of the 121 passengers most from Atlanta and the Atlanta region.

"She said they were all in a happy mood, happy to be going home," Allen recounted. "She said they were all very convivial, and she remarked especially on some of the children in the group."

Asks For Policy Record Clarity

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy renewed the fight over his health care program Tuesday with a brisk challenge to the American Medical Association to set the record straight on its policy toward Social Security.

In a letter to Dr. Leonard Larson, released by the White House, was in reply to a message Larson sent the President late last month charging Kennedy had created the impression the AMA had called Social Security a "cruel hoax" and was among opponents of its enactment in the 1930s.

Took No Position

This, Larson's message had been untrue. The AMA had never opposed Social Security, took no position on it and actually supported a section on extension of public health services, he said.

To this Kennedy replied Tuesday:

"If your organization did not oppose Social Security before its enactment—only afterward—I will be glad to point out this unique distinction at my next press conference."

"On the other hand, if the AMA has never opposed Social Security, some questions may be asked in order to set the record straight."

He then asked:

Why Dr. Morris Fishbein, former editor of the AMA Journal, made a statement in November 1939 at the request of the AMA board of trustees, and published it in the next issue of the Journal with remarks saying compulsory insurance, even old age and unemployment insurance represent "a beginning invasion by the state into the personal life of the individual—a definite step toward either communism or totalitarianism."

President Kennedy made the statement in his May 23 news conference that, "The AMA was one of the chief opponents of the Social Security system in the '30s."

"This statement is false."

Portland Firemen Dedicate Truck; Burn Hall Mortgage

THE DEDICATION and ceremonies of the Portland Hook and Ladder new fire truck was held over the weekend at the fire hall. Mayor William G. Starner presided.

Rev. Charles Cummings, pastor of the Portland Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation and benediction and Starner, the welcome.

The burning of the mortgage to the fire house was held. William Pensyl did the burning assisted by Starner and Atty. William Brodt Jr.

The Portland Elementary School band furnished the music. Kenneth Fritz directed. The school Twirlers also performed.

Pensyl, fire chief, was presented with a wrist watch from the Fire Company in recognition of his service. The presentation was by Laurence Randolph. Pensyl said: "He could not have worked alone had it not been for the co-operation of the firemen back of him."

He thanked all who made the program possible.

Atty. Brodt gave a history of the organization.

It was organized in 1895, and received its charter in 1897. Frank Ervey, a former resident of Portland now living in East Stroudsburg is the oldest living member. There are no living charter members living.

Its headquarters were in the Town Hall building and its chief was the late Mat M. Jay. The first engine was an old steamer, drawn by horses.

In 1896 the company moved to new quarters at State St., the lot and building costing $2000. At that time drills were held under the leadership of the late William J. Transue.

In 1934, a new Hahn fire engine was purchased, and in September 1953 the company moved to their present location.

In September, 1953, the company appointed a fund raising committee, under the chairmanship of William Pensyl. They purchased the lot from the Portland Realty Company, for $3,000. In November of 1955,

Phone Number Change Set To Start July 1

BELL Telephone Company preparations for change in the telephone numbering system for Stroudsburg, Pa., and New Jersey, Bushkill, Pa., and New Jersey, Cresco, Delaware Water Gap, Pa., and New Jersey and Mount Pocono telephones are on schedule. The change to seven figures is scheduled for 3:01 a.m., Sunday, July 1.

E.B. Chura, Bell's local manager, said most numbers working from the main office will be changed very little — the main change being a substitution of numbers for letters.

When the new numbers go into operation here July 1, HAMILTON 1-1801 will change to 421-1801 in Stroudsburg and a sample number for Cresco is 585-2201.

All number calling, Chura explained, has several advantages over the two-letter, five-figure system. Scientific tests have proved that seven-figure numbers can be dialed faster and more accurately than letters and numerals, since there is no "switching of attention" between the letters and the numbers on a dial.

Forget Letter

"With the new system, you just forget the letters on the dial," Chura said. "There's no confusion between the number '0' and the letter 'o' — or between the letter 'I' and the number '1'." Dialing is simpler and easier all around.

"But there's more to the new system," he continued. "Compared with the letter-plus-number system, seven-figure numbers increase by almost 50 per cent the quantity of telephone numbers possible with seven turns of the dial. This is because some of the available letter combinations just won't fit any central office name now."

Paves Way

"All number calling will also pave the way for other improvements," Chura said. "It will help bring national and international direct dialing of long distance calls, direct radio dialing, expanded and improved services for businessmen, and other advancements that telephone scientists and engineers are working on right now."

The seven-figure system avoids these limitations and makes all dial combinations usable as telephone numbers.

Eventually, according to Chura, when all telephones have the seven-figure system, it will be possible to remove the letters from the dial completely. This will improve legibility of the numbers on the instrument, and lead to the design of miniaturized telephones and other equipment for the phone system of the future.

Stockpiling Power

The Kennedy Administration has secretly produced a bill which would allow the President to decide all by himself to sell materials from the nation's strategic stockpile, according to the Chicago Tribune.

Copies of the bill introduced by Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) appeared (marked "secret") at about the same time an investigating committee began work to find out what should be done about the stockpile in the light of changing military needs. It seems that the Administration feels the committee's work is unnecessary on this vast problem, and that the President can solve everything alone.

Filling A Key Judgeship

"OYEZ! OYEZ! OYEZ!" the traditional court cry begins, and it ends:

"God save the Commonwealth and this Honorable Court."

That's just about the way many Pennsylvanians probably feel today as they watch the two major political parties and their major candidates cold-bloodedly approach the naming of candidates for the State Supreme Court vacancy created by the recent death of Justice Bok.

This opening in the State's highest appellate court couldn't have come at a worse time.

At best, the political considerations in the naming of a Supreme Court candidate usually raise some doubts and at a couple of troubling questions.

Right now, with the Governor, a U. S. Senator, members of the Legislature and other statewide offices on the ballot, the political ramifications of the Court vacancy are overwhelming.

It is a time, alas, when both of the major candidates for Governor and their parties will find it easier "to rise

A Most Delightful Letter

Thelma B. Wright, whose address is not on her letter, writes me:

"In your column in the Herald Examiner, May 9th regarding the King Anderson bill, I wish to say, that it is a pity, that one of your four major illnesses, did not prove fatal. As far as I can see you would be no loss to the community."

"You have the colossal nerve to say that people who cannot afford medical care etc., are in that predicament, due to 'shiftlessness' and profligacy."

"All I can say Sir, is 'drop dead'."

This letter, which is the acme of human kindness, is a very intelligent addition to a serious discussion of an important current political problem. But it is indicative of the enormous change that has taken place in our society — the bitterness over the Welfare State and the assumption that Horatio Alger was all wrong — that thrifit is a wicked practice; that spending up to the last penny is sound. Of course, when so large a share of everyone's earnings go to taxes, federal, state and local, it is difficult to save.

Nevertheless, this nation was built by thrifit. It was built by the expenditure of private funds, patiently saved and invested, not for hasty profits but for permanent growth. Most of the large companies started as small ones and grew by putting earnings back into growth and by selling participation to those who had saved their money.

Let us have a look at this situation from the standpoint of the stock market panic. The small man, who bought a hundred or so shares on margin and who has probably been wiped out, calculated for some time that he was the owner of, let us say, $1,500 which is now gone.

The economists may say that such a man did not lose that $1,500 because he never had it. They may say that he imagined that he had that money because he read in the newspapers or on the ticker that his particular stock was worth that amount of money, less taxes, if sold on a certain day.

However, this man did believe that he had $1,500 and he lived accordingly. He bought a car on time; he bought a refrigerator on time; he bought his wife a fur coat on time. He felt fine. He figured that as he got some more money he would buy more things on time. That $1,500 multiplied itself many times, perhaps 10 or 15 times — and all on time.

Now, he has lost that $1,500, imaginary or otherwise, and he will have to meet his obligations out of his salary. For a year or two, he will be cautious. He is not going to take a tour on his vacation but will stay at home and cut the grass.

Go up the line to the man who lost $15,000 or $20,000 and the situation is even worse. That man is frightened and he is

Try and Stop Me

"My brother Harpo is so perfectly adjusted," confides Groucho Marx in his autobiography, "that if a flood came along, Harpo would ride a house as if he never traveled any other way."

"When I grow up," a 6-year-old girl confided to her little brother, "I've decided to be a Brownie."

"Goody, goody," applauded the brother. "Then I'll be a peanut butter sandwich."

Old Mr. Moneybags sat rocking in his chair at the window of the Union League Club, favoring his young friend O'Connor with an occasional remark. "My wife," he finally grumbled, preparing to decamp, "won't believe I spend my afternoons here. She thinks I'm out chasing women. Gad, I wish she was right!"

The Pennsylvania Story

Comments On Gov. Lawrence

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's Governor Lawrence, although few may realize it, most certainly can be classified as a genuine educational nut.

At which point we hastily underscore two points: (1) — for the speed-reader it should be noted that we did not say "educated nut", and (2) — the work "nut" in this instance is used in a flattering sense, meaning an ultra-sincere, determined and hard-driving personage.

What is so unusual about this? Actually it isn't so much the unusual as it is paradoxical, unique and an interesting sidelight on the man who today is Pennsylvania's chief executive. Seventy-two-year-old David Leo Lawrence himself never quite got beyond the eighth grade — an attainment today generally regarded as the equivalent to completion of high school or secondary education.

Yet certainly it cannot be denied that he already has achieved a back-patting spot in public life, having served variously as four-time Mayor of Pittsburgh, one-time Secretary of the Commonwealth — and now Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania itself.

Yet in all of this and going back to that eighth grade accomplishment, you've got to hand it to grandfather Lawrence, at least in his waning gubernatorial months.

Notwithstanding his own educational shortcomings of earlier years and the fact that he is readily conceded to be a politician's politician par excellence, his concern and extreme interest in the educational field is genuine almost to the point of being a fetish.

His "public record" insofar as getting under way and pushing the "Governors Committee on Education" and the follow-up "Committee of One Hundred" is fairly well known throughout the land — the publicity emanating therefrom a natural sequence.

E-burg Council Paves Way For Planned Postal Facility

PLAN for a new and enlarged postal facility in the center of East Stroudsburg moved a step nearer reality last night as Borough Council approved the preparation of a survey and planning application for an urban renewal project.

The resolution of approval was passed following an explanation by Ralph O. Burrows, representing the borough's planning commission, that it will be made at no cost to the borough.

Burrows told the group that a group of civic-minded businessmen will pay the $750 cost of the first phase of the two-part study and that the planning commission has made arrangements to handle the other $750.

Speaker For Graduation At Bangor

COMMENCEMENT speaker at Bangor Area Joint High School

June 14 will be Dr. Don McGarey, professor of education at Pennsylvania State University, who has held this post since 1947.

He holds numerous degrees in the field of education, and had been a high school principal, supervisor of instruction and director of guidance in the public schools of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Dr. McGarey is a noted author and lecturer. Among his publications are a book on curriculum development and articles for professional journals.

He was head of the department of education and dean of men at Morris Harvey College, Charles Town, W. Va., for seven years.

Vacation At Mt. Pocono

MOUNT POCONO — Mrs. Louise Wright of Baltimore, Md., spent the past week visiting Mrs. Andrew McGinley at her home on Fairview Ave.

Mrs. Charles Whitlow entertained the canasta club at her home on Knox Road on Friday night. Present were Mrs. A.J. Vossak, Mrs. Alvin Mac Williams, Mrs. Matthew Curran, Miss Mabel Storm, Mrs. Bertha Salerni, Mrs. Bruno Parth and Mrs. Andrew McGinley.

Services were held in the Wm. Dunn Funeral Home, Langhorne, with the Rev. Carl Hammerly officiating. Interment was in Newtown Cemetery.

spokesman said it is his understanding that East Stroudsburg is the largest mail stop on the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad between Hoboken and Buffalo.

In addition, he cited the increasing use of trucks in transporting mail. He said the Post Office Dept. feels it will need about two acres of land including a loading-unloading area and parking facilities for patrons.

Burrows pointed out that the government no longer buys land and erects its own facilities, depriving the borough of tax revenue on such properties. Instead, he said, the government now lets private individuals and firms erect the buildings, then leases the facilities.

Burrows said a Post Office Dept. representative was "impressed" by the site the planning commission showed him. He declined to identify the parcel of land under discussion at the request of the Post Office Dept.

Street Committee

Council referred to its street committee for action these matters:

1. A request from the Lanterman Funeral Home, which is demolishing the building at 17-19-21 Washington St., for a parking lot.

The funeral home had asked that the drainage from the lot be channeled into the borough's storm sewer system. It also said it will be necessary to remove one meter and to cut the curb to provide an entrance for the parking lot.

2. A request from East Stroudsburg National Bank for a change in the timing of the stop light at S. Courtland and Washington Sts. to speed traffic on Washington which is currently blocking the entrance and exit to the bank's parking lot.

3. A letter addressed to Mayor Thomas Kistler from the East Stroudsburg Taxpayers Assn. asking limited parking on Analogomink St.

Other Matters

In other action, Council:

Awarded to B.E. Weber the contract for a one-half ton pickup truck on his low bid of $1,300. Other bidders were Haynes Motors Inc., $1,700 and E.M. Rinne, $1,847.

Authorized Borough Manager Sterling Cramer to advertise for bids for a new police car.

Granted a request from Arthur DeVivo to construct a driveway on Washington St.

Approved exoneration of Paul W. Lloyd, tax collector, from collection of $1,043.40 in occupation taxes and $1,515 in per capita taxes.

Lions Hear Report On Satellites

SATELLITES orbiting in outer space offer a natural solution to the down-to-earth problem of meeting the steadily mounting need for more global communications facilities, E. D. Lavery, of Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, told members of the Stroudsburg Lions Club at a meeting here last night.

The Echo Satellite, now in orbit around the earth, has definitely proved the feasibility of space communications even though it is a passive satellite and can only reflect signals.

Lavery said. The experimental Telstar satellites to be launched during 1962 in further development of the space communications program will be active satellites capable of receiving signals, amplifying them and retransmitting them back to earth.

New avenues for world-wide communications must be developed to handle present and future volumes of traffic now transmitted by ocean cables, he stated. Overseas telephone calls multiplied from one million to four million during the 1950s and are expected to increase to 100 million annually by 1980.

Other Channels

"In addition to facilities for handling the increasing number of regular telephone calls, there must be channels to carry machine-to-machine data transmission, to meet defense needs and to develop world-wide television," he added.

Using working models of satellites, Lavery explained the use of microwave transmission by way of satellites and forecast further development of such discoveries as transistors, solar batteries and masers which will use beams of pure light as communications carriers.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the Reed Funeral Home, Johnsonville.

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will visit the funeral home Thursday at 9 a.m.

He has held this post since 1947.

He holds numerous degrees in the field of education, and had been a high school principal, supervisor of instruction and director of guidance in the public schools of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Dr. McGarey is a noted author and lecturer. Among his publications are a book on curriculum development and articles for professional journals.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Varying degrees of insanity are concomitant with working for a newspaper. In the midst of scurrying around trying to organize the new Family Fare page, I suddenly stopped short to ask myself what I was so happy about.

In my present stage of tired blood and frantic personal commitments, I need extra pages to fill about as much as I need another hole in my head. The worst of it is it's the type of insanity that's contagious. That's the only reason I was able to persuade Linda Pipher to take on another job at the heights of the promotion season and the very week they're moving to a new home out by the Reish farm.

And if anybody should wonder why I enlisted Linda's help, a glance at her style and her recipes is reason enough. But there's also a personal reason. It's not that I can't cook; after all both children grew big and strong and healthy; or even that I hate cooking.

But over the years it has gradually dawned on me that

The Baby's Named!

THE DAILY RECORD congratulates the parents and introduces to its readers the following new babies:

Susan Kathleen Wallie
Their first child was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Jack Wallie of 122 West Broad St., East Stroudsburg, on June 2 at the General Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds 11 ounces and has been named Susan Kathleen.

Mrs. Wallie is the former Edith K. Careta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Careta of 88 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Wallie, 111 Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Deborah Jean Lawlin
Deborah Jean is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Lawlin of Stroudsburg RD 2 on May 24 at the General Hospital. She weighed 5 pounds 15 ounces and is their third child. Older children are David, 4 and Cheryl, 1½.

Their mother is the former Alice Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kauffman of Stroudsburg RD 2. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Burnitt K. Lawlin of 621 Lawlin Rd., Wyckoff, N.J.

Frederick James Eyer
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Eyer of Stroudsburg RD 1 on June 1 at the General Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds 13 ounces and has been named Frederick James. He has two brothers, William H. Eyer Jr., 5½; and Robert John Eyer, 4.

Mrs. Eyer is the former Ruth Tarr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tarr, Thomas St., Stroudsburg. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Eyer of 113 West Fourth St., East Stroudsburg.

Sally Beth Johnson
Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnson of Camp Hill announce the birth of their second child, a daughter, on May 9 at the Harrisburg Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds 7 ounces and has been named Sally Beth. Her brother, Henry Matthew, is 16 months old.

Her mother is the former Jean Newhart, daughter of Mrs. George Newhart and the late George W. Newhart of Tannersville.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson of Scot-

It is not a field in which I shall ever become famous. The clincher came when both children went away to school, and both wrote home enthusiastically about dormitory meals. No other mother, I venture, can make that claim.

There have been other subtle hints along the way. Like when "the girls" are planning a cooperative dinner party, they always ask me to bring a cheese tray, or be responsible for picking up the rolls and butter.

For club covered dish suppers, they're even blunter: "I suppose you'd rather contribute a dollar," they suggest. Maybe cooking is like having twins—it skips generations. Anyway, sandwiched in between generations who are excellent cooks, I do all right in the eating department.

But speaking of departments, now that we've got the new page going how about sending in suggestions about what you'd like to read in it—or write about in it. We can all go happily made together.

COUNTDOWN BEGINS for the Fashions in Orbit show being sponsored by Hadassah a week from today. Out for a trial run in Courthouse Square are three of the models: Jean Marean, cantering on the cannon; Erika Schantz, signaling the count-down, and Kate Mullins with the capsule — or maybe that's the moon.

Israeli Fashions Resort Wear Ready For Show

The Hadassah fashion show, "Fashions in Orbit" will be held on Wednesday night June 13, at 8:30 p.m. at Tamiment in the Poconos. Featured in the fashions will be original designs by the girls in the Vocational High School in Israel and resort fashions by Wyckoff's.

Local people wishing to make reservations for dinner at 6:30 preceding the show may call Mrs. Sumar Schwartz HA 1-2860 or Mrs. Morris Jacobsen, HA 1-4404.

Tickets for the fashion show may be obtained from any member of Hadassah or at Wyckoff's gift wrap department.

Mrs. Arthur Jolley, Mrs. Edgar Liebert and Mrs. Irving Sommer are co-chairmen of the show. They have announced that some 20 local merchants have contributed to the show.

Communion Breakfast Theme Responsibility

Brodheadsville — The Communion Breakfast of the Altar and Rosary Society of Our Lady Queen of Peace Church was held at Split Rock Lodge on Sunday.

Rev. Robert Galligan as the main speaker had as his theme "Sense of Responsibility" as parents and individuals to God, the government, and country.

Responsibility must be evident in the home, the community and among neighbors.

"Only through our example will our children develop an abiding sense of responsibility," he said.

Other guests included Mrs. Marie Schultz, president of the Monroe Pike Deanyan of Catholic Women and Mrs. L. Chopko, immediate past president.

Mrs. Rose Talpas presided at the breakfast.

Strawberry Festival

A strawberry festival will be held Saturday, beginning at 5 p.m. at the Mount Zion Methodist Church, Chipperfield Drive. The public is invited.

Altar Guild Plans Scheduled Until Christmas

St. John's Lutheran Altar Guild got off to a headstart for Fall at their meeting this week at the church in Stroudsburg. Mrs. John Dunkelberger who will be chairman of the program committee for the rest of the year announced the following programs:

September, Mrs. John Kitchen, altar demonstration; October, Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, religious art; November, Mrs. Jossie Barnes, women of the Bible; and December Mrs. Wilmont Smith, Christmas party. Mrs. Helen Glennon will be in charge of baby pictures at each meeting.

Plans were made for a family covered dish supper to be held June 20 when Stephen Matos will speak on "Space Exploration".

Under the direction of Mrs. Larry von Blohn a birthday party was held with each person present receiving a corsage of artificial flowers of her birthday month. Individual cakes with candles were served with other refreshments at tables with flowers typical of the 12 months of the year.

Prizes for recognizing the most members through their baby pictures were won by Mrs. Lucie Heller and Mrs. Helen Glennon. Hostesses were Mrs. von Blohn, Mrs. Albert Andress, Mrs. Louise Pazio and Mrs. Stephen Kosco.

Stained Glass Dedicated At Wooddale

Wooddale — The stained glass windows of the Wooddale Church were dedicated on Sunday for a capacity congregation. Two of the windows have been donated: one by the family of Anna Emery Fetherman and the other by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Church.

Mrs. Thomas Lambert of Easton, guest soloist, sang "My Cathedral". The Anatolimik Girls Chorus sang two selections and a mixed chorus of the Wooddale Church sang "How Great Thou Art".

After the dedication services conducted by the pastor Justin Feltham, refreshments were served in the church grove.

SHOPPER

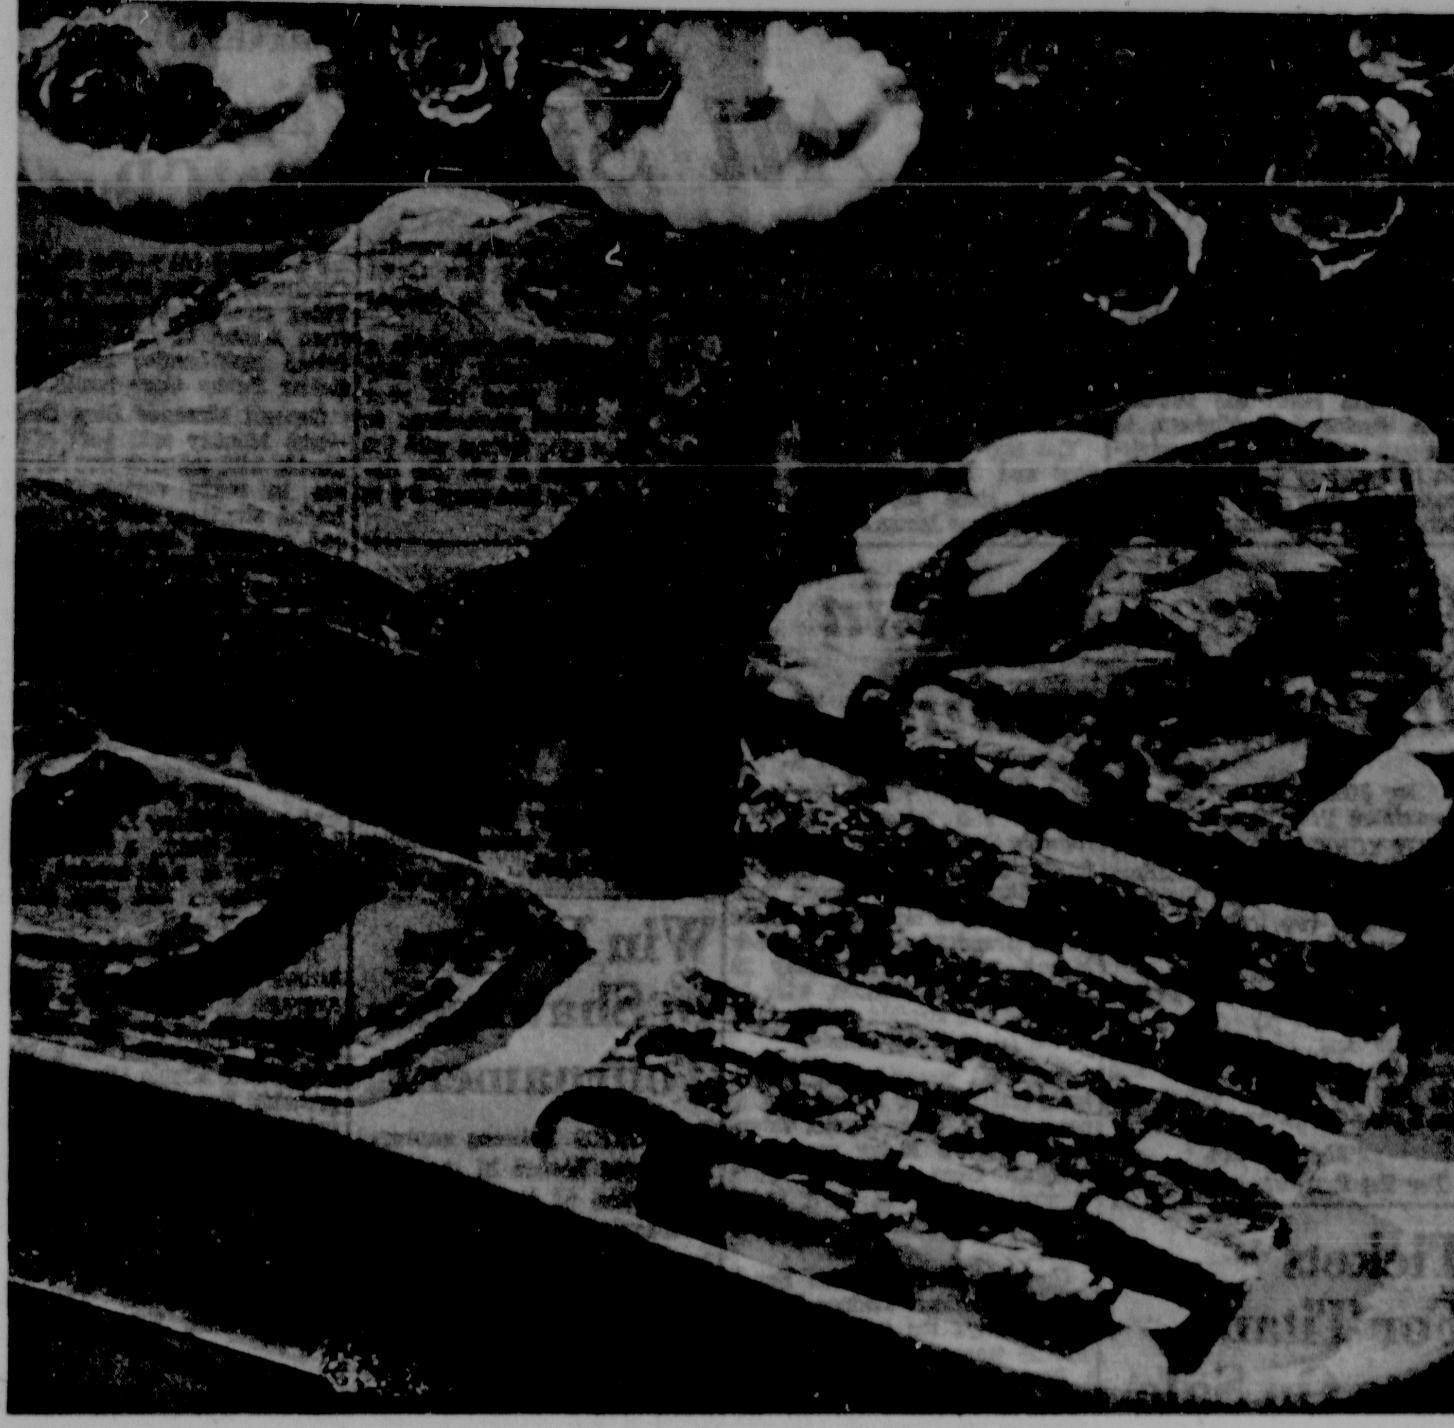

What do YOU think of someone who comes into your office . . . writes you a note requesting free publicity . . . addresses you as Mrs. Baloney rather than Maloney, and has the audacity to further suggest that your typewriter ribbon is lousy? (It isn't really . . . it just needed someone to press a button and start it rolling in the opposite direction.) I'm not sure what YOU'D think of such a person . . . but I merely chuckled, for all of these things were evidence of Gracie Grace's handiwork, and though Gracie resigned from Wyckoff's years ago to become a busy housewife-mother-and-clubwoman, she still pops up time and again to needle us, as she did so effectively during her days as Mr. Kerlin's secretary.

Gracie has a keen sense of humor and an ever-ready gift of gab, and just between us, she's the type of personality you never quite replace once they are gone. You still giggle over some of the goofy, witty, offbeat things she did, with executives as well as co-workers feeling the ridiculous barbs of her humor. Right now, Gracie is diverting much of her ability to the printing of a newsletter about the activities of Junior Women's Club members, which she signs "Gabby". What other signature would do? Hers is a chatty, happy, light-hearted newspaper, and one that delights me everytime I find it among the papers on my desk.

But so much for brown-eyed, blonde Gracie whose big interest right now is the Laurel Blossom Ball for which she would like me to do a bit of drum beating. It's to be held at Pocono Manor Friday evening, June 8th, with a buffet followed by dancing, entertainment, and many surprise features. Those who wish to dine may purchase tickets for the entire evening at 15.00 per couple. For those who wish to join the party after dinner, to enjoy only the dancing and other activities, tickets are 6.00 per couple. Dancing begins at 9:30. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee: Mrs. Larry Levy, Mrs. William Huffmire, Mrs. Stanley Willush, Mrs. Richard Primrose or Mrs. Stanley Grace. Proceeds go to the General Hospital Expansion Fund.

On the following evening there is another event of great interest to the public: a special program, "Salute to the Seasons," to be presented at East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School Auditorium. This entertainment which Sally Ferreebri, Laurel Blossom festivities chairman, tells me will be "simply fabulous" has been based on George Graff's poem, "Four Seasons in the Poconos." I am sure the house will be packed, and curtain time is 8:30.

And now, since I've cooperated so pleasantly with Gracie and Sally (I still feel Gracie owes my typewriter ribbon an apology!) I'm sure no one will object to my saying that the big event of the next week, and certainly one of the most spectacular events of the summer, will be our Wyckoff-Hadassah Fashion Show Wednesday evening, June 13th, at beautiful Tamiment-in-the-Poconos. The show will begin at 8:30, and tickets (including show, refreshments, favors, and a possible prize) are 1.50 each person, available from any Hadassah member or from our Wyckoff Gift Wrap Center. Those who desire dinner at Tamiment prior to the show may make their reservations with either Mrs. Morris Jacobson or Mrs. Sumeria Schwartz at 3.50 per person . . . for 10.00, a couple can dine, dance, see the show and make it a complete evening at Tamiment, while for just 1.50 a person can have a lovely time. It seems to me that all these things I've mentioned are among the "best buys" in town . . . why not get them all down on your engagement calendar?

FESTIVE FOR graduation or bridal parties is this double treat of glazed ham and molded chicken loaf.

both easy to prepare in advance.

Idea For Summer Buffet Can Be Found Filed Under "C" For Can Any Time

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist

I suppose everyone at some time thinks of the results of sudden death, but what worries me the most is that someone would be forced to interpret my filing system. For example, under T I have a folder labeled PIWTGS, and of course I know this means that articles on the Northwest or Europe are in the Places I Want To Go Some-time folder and filed under Travel.

In my recipe file Lee's Chocolate Sauce is under P because Lee was the chef years ago at the Peters House. Logical associations to me, but I'm afraid the epitaph on my tombstone will read, "Here lies disorganized Linda."

Trim That Fatted Calf By Choosing Proper Shoe

By Jean Sprain Wilson

The quickest way to slim down your ankles and slenderize your feet is to change your shoes.

The avoidupsis may still be there, but it doesn't seem to be, and, figuratively speaking, appearance is 9/10s of the law.

Indeed, many an ample woman with a potentially trim ankle would turn more heads her way if she would avoid the pitfalls, and observe the rules in dressing . . . all the way down to the toes.

Heer are some don'ts:

• Don't believe that old saw that only dark hose and shoes make the legs longer and slimmer. It is the uncluttered line and color blending that does the trick. A pale colored stocking ending in a pale toned shoe also gives the illusion of a longer, slimmer leg.

• Select a shoe with a supple yet firm leather uppers that retains its shape. A shoe with some solidity prevents the foot from spreading and bulging over the sole.

• Consider a tailored spectator for casualwear, rather than the squatly type of sports shoe, as on their feet a great deal.

• Overweight women who will find comfort, coolness, and foot flattery in an elongated walking shoe with minimum detailing such as underlays of small perforations.

• Keep the color of your entire costume in mind. If shoes match, or complement the suit hue, they will carry out the slender, elongated look that every woman wants.

• Don't wear bare-heeled or sling-heeled shoes. The shoes will not cling nicely to your feet, ankles will be unattractively fleshy.

• Don't wear sandals. Heavy feet need firm support, and the flesh is unsightly bulging between the straps like an eiderdown quilt.

• Don't wear square-toed shoes. Well constructed leather shoes, built on an elongated last with either tapered or ovalized lines not only look slimmer but last longer.

On the positive side:

• Do select a simple style, such as a pump with an oval throat, and don't overdress the shoe with buckles and bows.

• Select a shoe with a supple yet firm leather uppers that retains its shape. A shoe with some solidity prevents the foot from spreading and bulging over the sole.

Tips To Add Tips To That Summertime Waitress Job

By Vivian Brown

Planning to work as a waitress during your summer vacation, as many girls do?

Then learn to be pleasant, says Linda Eggleston, 22, of Pontiac, Mich., a Michigan State University student. It will make the job easier, says Linda, who has worked at waiting-on-table for several summers, and likes it as an away-from-home job because it combines a vacation with making money.

"Learn to laugh off little annoyances. Many people are grouchy in the morning. Greet them with 'good morning,' offer them a cup of hot coffee, stay at a discreet distance, and don't chatter or giggle until they feel better," she advises.

"Most waitresses don't like to wait on gourmets, but they shouldn't be obvious about it. Some people are too demanding, and you can't do anything right for them. But then there are many nice people who even invite you to visit them when you are in their hometown."

Beware of Compliments

Some waitresses make the mistake of falling for the flattery of a male diner, much to the irritation of his wife, Linda notes.

Whenever a man compliments

Linda Loves To Cook-And Write About It

No armchair cooking expert, Linda Peters Pipher loves trying out her recipes on husband, Bill, and their 7½ year old son. Moreover her training uniquely qualifies her to impart that love of cooking to Record Readers.

A graduate of Syracuse University with a BS in home economics, she was home economist with the Scranton Electric Co., demonstrating and conducting cooking schools. For the past five years she has been home economic teacher at Stroud Union High School, retiring to do promotional work.

At Syracuse she earned an A in a magazine writing course as well as pin money by selling articles to Good Housekeeping and Popular Mechanics. Since she has sold short articles to Parents, American Home, and soon to be published a skirt to "Forecast for Home Economists."

Empty chicken broth into kettle. Add carrots, onions, cloves, peppercorns, and salt. Cook until carrots are tender and broth is cooked down to 3½ cups. Soak gelatin in cold water. Remove carrots from broth, chop, and combine with parsley. Remove chicken from bones and cut into uniform sized pieces. Grease a reusable safety-tin 5 pound ham can. Arrange egg slices in design on bottom of can. Alternate layers of egg slices, chicken, and parsley-carrot mixture. Strain broth. Dissolve the soaked gelatin in the hot broth. Pour broth over arrangement in ham can. Arrange lid of can on top to hold chicken in broth. Chill overnight. Slice into ¼ inch slices.

Cultured sour cream is made by adding a bacterial culture to pasteurized cream so that both the acid and flavor may be controlled.

Do-It-Yourself Murals Add Custom Look

By Vivian Brown

Newest idea for do-it-yourselfers is a wall mural that is chic, easy to do and inexpensive enough to leave behind when you move to a rented home.

"These paint-by-pattern murals offer great possibilities, particularly to people who've had to forfeit custom decorative touches because they live in rented homes," points out Hildegarde Walworth, interior designer of Rye, N.Y., and New York City.

You tape a pattern sheet to the wall, squeeze over the back of it to get your outline and hand paint with artists brushes, oil paints and directions that come with the kit. Presto, you have a hand painted mural, she says.

Be nice to children, Linda advises, particularly if you must rely on tips. She found at her job last summer at Montauk, Long Island, where there were a number of children, that people like you if you are kind to their offspring.

Bad Afternoons For Play

Mrs. Walworth chose a lemon tree motif for use in a white kitche in a fashionable Sutton Place apartment in New York. The trees are an ideal fillip to the washable, felt-backed yellow table cover and other orange and apricot accents.

Lemon Tree

She had long hours at Montauk, but liked her job because it was like vacation.

"Get a job at a resort if you can. It'll seem less like work, and more like fun. I served breakfast at 7 a.m. at the hotel, then went to the Surf Club to serve lunch at oceanside. I had the afternoon to myself for play and swimming and then was in the Manor house dining room at 7 where I worked until 9:30. After that I was on my own, and did baby sitting to earn some extra money on occasions, and on my day off."

ESSC, Columbia To Meet On Grid

FINAL NEGOTIATIONS were completed yesterday for a full-scale scrimmage between East Stroudsburg State College's and Columbia University's varsity football teams.

The game, which will be under normal conditions, will be played at Columbia's Baker Bowl, New York City, Sept. 22. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Details for the first ESSC grid meeting with an Ivy League school were formulated by the Warriors director of athletics John Eiler, ESSC head football coach Jack Gregory and Columbia's grid boss, Buff Donelli, and athletics director Ralph Eurey.

Special Occasion

The game, which will be under National Collegiate Athletic Association rules and officials, is part of a day set aside for a Columbia fund-raising campaign among alumni leaders. The football contest climaxes a two-day drive for funds.

East Stroudsburg's eleven will journey to New York, Friday, Sept. 21 and participate in a control passing exercise with Donelli's Lions. The Warriors will stay overnight in a Gotham hotel and take on Columbia the following afternoon.

Last year Columbia hosted Bucknell at the alumni affair. The year before Rutgers was the opposition on the same day.

Giants Stomp Cubs, 11-4; O'Dell Gains 7th Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — A bobble on what could have been a triple play blossomed into a five-run San Francisco eighth inning as the first-place Giants romped to an 11-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

Lefly O'Dell hurled his seventh National League victory against three losses and also his seventh complete game, striking out 10 as he scattered five hits.

After Felipe Alou's lead-off homer in the eighth, two Giants walked and then Jose Pagan lined a shot directly into the hands of shortstop Andre Rodgers only a few steps from second base.

But Rodgers, who easily could have doubled up both runners, dropped the ball. He conceivably could have had an unassisted triple play because the runner from first almost had reached second.

After that, doubles by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays, and a single by Chuck Hiller, rounded out the five-run spree by the Giants, who also had a four-run surge in the third inning.

The loser was Bob Buhl, who was chased in the big eighth in which only one of the five Giants' runs was earned, that being Alou's seventh homer.

Kutyna, the losing pitcher, after Ron Hansen walked to open the seventh inning with the Orioles trailing 5-4.

Baltimore scored four runs with two out in the first, sparked by Jack Brandt's triple and Charlie Lau's bases-loaded single. After that Washington starter Don Rudolph retired 16 batters in a row before being lifted for a pinch hitter.

All of Washington's runs came on homers off Baltimore starter Milt Pappas. Ken Retzer hit solo homers in the second and fifth frames, and Chuck Hinton slugged a three-run homer in the seventh to put the Senators ahead.

Billy Hoeft, who pitched to one batter in the seventh, was the winner.

SNEAD GAINS 22nd Shot At Open Crown

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam Snead qualified Tuesday for his 22nd crack at the U.S. Open Golf Championship, the one major tournament he's never won.

Snead, who played in his first National Open as a raw country boy in 1937, won one of 81 berths decided Tuesday on the second and last day of 36-hole sectional tests from coast-to-coast. A two-round total of 71-70-141 at the rain-soaked Montclair, N.J., Golf Club course did it for the West Virginia capitalist, the all-time top money winner in pro golf.

Most of the other "name" players made it through sectional tests at Montclair, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta, Washington, D.C. and San Francisco although four former Open champions recently.

Other local winners in the tournament were, Boyd Chapman, Weldon Cramer, J. Joseph McElroy, Richard Altemose and William Nixon.

CHICAGO (AP) — Harold Storm captured the trophy for East Stroudsburg Elks Lodge 319 by winning the Pennsylvania Elks' Association Golf Tournament at Tamiment-in-the-Pocono mountains recently.

Other local winners in the tournament were, Boyd Chapman, Weldon Cramer, J. Joseph McElroy, Richard Altemose and William Nixon.

Yank. 53, Bows In French Golf

CHANTILLY, France (AP) — Gaetan Morgue d'Algue considered the most promising young amateur golfer in France, outdistanced 53-year-old David Goldman of Dallas Tuesday and won the French Amateur Championship with a 3 and 1 victory in the 16-hole final.

Goldman, seeking to become the first American to take this title since Dick Chapman won over Billy Maxwell in 1952, led all through the morning round but weakened at the finish.

Neither played exceptionally good golf over the 6,780-yard, par 72 Chantilly course, but Morgue d'Algue came up with a pair of important birdies at the 23rd and 27th holes, then stuck close to par while Goldman stumbled weakly through the rough.

THE 22-year-old Morgue d'Algue rallied after falling three holes behind at the 19th, won four of five holes from the 23rd through the 27th and then hung on to let the tiring Goldman beat himself.

Redskins Pep Up Offense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins signed their No. 1 draft pick, Leroy Jackson, yesterday and completed rejuvenating the weakest offense in the National Football League.

As they floundered to one victory, one tie and 12 defeats last fall, the Redskins were shut out three times and in only five of 14 games did they score more than two touchdowns.

Quarterback Norman Snead, thrown into NFL combat as a rookie in the toughest job in pro football, was even further handicapped by an almost non-existent running attack.

With Mitchell and Jackson, McPeak now has two of the fastest halfbacks in pro football, and do a top job anywhere. At 175 pounds, however, James isn't rugged enough for fulltime duty.

as opposing linemen ignored the ball carriers and zeroed in on him.

Coach Bill McPeak began reeling off the offense by swapping off. Ernie Davis of Syracuse, rated the top runner in college football last season.

Davis, chosen first by the Redskins in the NFL draft, was traded to Cleveland for veteran halfback Bobby Mitchell, an established star, and Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois, a No. 1 choice of the Browns.

Players To Pick All Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — The balloting for the players to represent the American and National Leagues in the two 1962 All-Star Games will begin June 22 and conclude June 28, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick announced Tuesday.

The first 1962 game will be played in Washington's brand new

District of Columbia Stadium on Tuesday, July 10. The second game is scheduled for Chicago's Wrigley Field on Monday, July 30.

Starting time has been set for 1 p.m., local time.

In the past few years the players will select the starting teams, exclusive of pitchers, in their own league. The only restriction is that they cannot vote for players on their own team. The pitchers and the remainder of the squad will be chosen by the manager.

Houk, Hutchinson

The two pennant winning pilots of 1961, Fred Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds and Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees, will be the managers.

The two games will mark the 32nd and 33rd between the two leagues since the mid-summer spectacle was inaugurated in 1933.

This marks the fourth successive year of the two-All Star Game practice. There was no All-Star Game in 1945.

The American League holds a 16-14 edge in victories. The only time the game took place last year when rain halted proceedings in Boston after nine innings with the score deadlocked at 1-1. The Nationals took the first game 5-4 in San Francisco.

Tourist Information Sites

THE Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau highway information booths—operated by the bureau as a complimentary tourist information service—will this year be located near Blakeslee, on Route 940; near the Delaware Water Gap; and at Wind Gap, on Route 115.

Staffed by teachers from schools in Stroudsburg and Monroe County, the booths will open on Memorial Day and be operated daily from 10:00 a.m. to 8 p.m., with the exception of Fridays when information hosts will be on duty until 10:00 p.m.

E. German Cruises

BERLIN (AP) — Informants report that ships taking East German vacationers on cruise trips now make only Communist port calls, presumably to limit the temptation to defect. Earlier this year some East Germans jumped ship at Tunis and Casablanca.

Motorists will be able to recognize the official booths from their blue and green official emblems, and are advised that the Bureau has no responsibility or control over any other booths in the area that may be operated commercially by individuals.

DEAR FRIEND: I don't believe that when a man "chases" his wife is always the last to know. (She may be the last to admit it.) Since Red is chasing YOU, why don't you straighten him out before your husband sees Red?

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 14 and very big for his age. We aren't the kind of people who talk openly about every subject in the world, if you know what I mean. Lately our son has been asking me a lot of questions about life and so forth. I tell him to ask his father, but his father tells him to ask me. Whose job do you think this is?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: It's Father's job. But one of you had better hurry up and tell the boy what he wants to know or it will be like giving a fish a bath!

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument on a point of etiquette? I once read that it was acceptable for a woman to sit and embroider or knit while with friends. Recently I wanted to take my knitting along when we went to call on some friends and my husband told me to leave it home as it might be considered rude.

I've seen women knitting and embroidery at all kinds of social gatherings and I never gave it a second thought. I'd like your opinion.

DEAR LIKES: There is nothing "rude" about knitting or embroidery while conversing with friends. (If there is any "needling" done, at least it's done in the open.)
